

Supporting colleagues in the Welsh health and social care sector is something we pride ourselves in. We have a strong track record of partnership working and innovation with organisations from across the Welsh public sector. Each collaboration is unique and begins with a consultative conversation. We have a broad professional skill set within our team that allows us to assess, formulate and understand the wellbeing related needs of your organisation, be these issues of sustainability, morale, health, leadership, culture, safety or performance. Given that current evidence suggests all of these issues are linked in some way to employee wellbeing the ABUHB Employee Wellbeing Service is well placed to help.
